City Council votes to accept mausoleum

By WAYNE LYON

Mayor Warren Walder appraised the situation with the statement, "I know it's an additional liability, but we have no choice. We can't let it deteriorate any further."

The Dixon City Council, with that feeling, unanimously agreed Monday night at City Hall to accept an offer of ownership of the mausoleum in Oakwood Cemetery and all its assets.

The resolution, still subject to approval by the mausoleum trustees, said the city would only make reasonable and necessary repairs. No heating plant would be installed. Rather, electrical outlets for space heaters would be provided.

There were reservations expressed by one councilman. Commissioner Arthur Tofte commented: "Does this resolution make the city responsible for maintaining the mausoleum forever? We could be putting a burden on another council or citizens in the future?"

Mayor Walder remarked that Oakwood Cemetery Superintendent Ed Slain had been making repairs on the structure already.

Commissioner James G. Burke summed it up: "We've already been maintaining it for years. It's in the middle of our house. We may as well accept ownership and get the $10,000."

The latter figure is the amount in the Oakwood mausoleum trust fund which will be taken by the city if mausoleum trustees approve the action.

The council's acceptance of a Plan Commission report prompted further discussion on the Bunny's Bait Shop issue.

The Plan Commission returned the request for a change in zoning ordinances to allow bait shops in residential areas to the council with no recommendation.

City Attorney Tomas Magdich advised the council that any action on special uses should be put off until a major overhaul of the city's zoning ordinance is completed this month.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hays, owners of the now-closed bait shop at 815 Washington Ave., were at the meeting.

When told by Mayor Walder that he thought the best course for them was to seek another location, the bait-shop owner answered, "We have been looking at other facilities, but none of them are suitable. The bait-shop business is one which must be operated out of one's home."

Hays went on to remind the Council that small business was vital to the city. "Mullery Ford is moving out of the city," he said, "and we'll be losing a considerable amount of sales-tax revenue. I feel that small businesses are going to have to be encouraged."

Walder said, "All the members of the Council are sympathetic to your problem. But we must be aware of the rights of all of our citizens. There were a number of objectors. We have to listen to them, too."

Burke stated, "I think that after the zoning ordinances are overhauled, we should consider a special-use ordinance for bait shops."

The city's bartenders should breathe easier after a statement by Magdich that he could in no way find any rule limiting to 12 per cent the alcoholic content of wine sold to 19- and 20-year-olds under the new liquor ordinances.

In effect, if it is labeled wine, it can be sold as wine to the newest members of the drinking set.

Walder expressed appreciation to tavern owners for their cooperation in the enforcement of the new ordinances. "Chief Earl Kelchner and I cannot go around with a hydrometer checking the alcoholic content of drinks."

The Mayor, in proclaiming Fire Prevention Week, stated that Dixon would be participating in a statewide drill for Operation EDITH Oct. 9 at 5:55 p.m.

In other action the Council:

—Approved the expenditure of an additional $10,000 for work on a storm sewer project on Brinton Avenue and North Dixon Avenue. An extra block of curbs and gutters were added to the project, explained Burke.

—Advised the City Clerk to advertise for bids on a new station wagon for the Fire Department. The old wagon, a 1966 Ford, will be sold on a bid basis.

—Decided to delay the awarding of bid for a new garbage packer until the Street Department could complete tests and demonstrations on a Garwood model offered in the bidding.

—Paid Willett, Hofmann & Associates $444.09 for services on a sewer project.

—Authorized payment to Police and Fire Pensions Fund of $1,339, and $288 to the Oakwood Cemetery Fund for matured Airport revenue bonds.

—Amended to $110,000, the amount being spent on a storm-sewer project in the Ravine Drive area. The original project was to have cost more, but modifications lowered the cost.

—Granted a variance in the zoning code to Mr. and Mrs. Francis Waytenick for an addition to their residence at 615 E. Morgan St.

—Passed a resolution urging the Pollution Control Board to accept a petition by Medusa Cement Corp. for a variance from control standards.

—Approved a resolution authorizing the execution of an easement for a storm sewer beneath railroad tracks and on to the Tollway Industrial Park.

—Concurred with the Plan Commission for approval of annexation and zoning of B-3 of Franchise Foods Inc., for a Pizza Hut in the 1300 block of North Galena Ave.

Allocation on fuel

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House today imposed a mandatory allocation system on wholesale supplies of propane gas and said a mandatory allocation system for home heating oil will put into effect "in the near future."

John A. Love, director of the President's Energy Policy Office, said the mandatory allocation programs are necessary "to ensure that no home or hospital goes without adequate heat and no farm is without adequate propane" this winter.

Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton told newsmen the heating oil allocation regulations would not be ready for perhaps two weeks.

Love said that when they do come, they will include not only home heating oil but all of the "middle distillates" which include diesel fuel, kerosene and jet fuel.

Another administration proposal to bar switching from coal and other high-sulphur fuels to scarce low-sulphur fuels remained in the works and was expected to be adopted.

Charles J. DiBona, Love's deputy, said that action was delayed only by the need to issue an environmental impact statement, as has been done, and to review comments on it.

He said adoption of the no-switching rule would probably occur within a few weeks.

The mandatory allocation systems are based on the distribution pattern of the fuels during the past year, Love said.

However, the allocation systems include provisions for priority distribution to users in particular need, such as home heating in New England and the upper Midwest, where winters are severe.

Love said the attempt to distribute fuels fairly by voluntary cooperation from the petroleum industry was a failure and that mandatory allocations are "necessary and appropriate on a short-term basis."

But he said that fuel shortages are expected this winter "and perhaps over the next few years," hinting that "short term" may be a very flexible phrase.

The fuel allocation plans do not directly affect the prices of the products involved, which are still under the Phase 4 controls of the Cost of Living Council.

Love said the programs would be administered by the Interior Department.

He said some details of the heating oil program were not yet available but the decision to apply it was being announced "to let consumers and distributors know that positive action is being taken."

An administration source has told The Associated Press that President Nixon had actually approved heating oil allocation two weeks ago but delayed action while reviewing the situation to see just how extensive allocations must be.

The source said the allocations probably would not extend to gasoline and other non-oil products but probably would have to include the whole range of distillate oils, including diesel fuel, kerosene and jet fuel.

A statement accompanying the propane program warns that supplies this winter will "probably be insufficient to meet all market demands" and that "nonpriority users can expect to receive less than their full requirements."

Judge Rapp assigned to Garcia trial

Chief Circuit Judge James E. Bales assigned Mt. Carroll Judge John W. Rapp to hear the murder trial of Mrs. Felipa Garcia. The motion asking a substitution of judges was filed Monday by defense attorney Thomas Kavadas.

The motion claimed that Judge Bales was prejudiced against Mrs. Garcia, Rock Falls, accused in the shooting death of Manuel Terronez on May 14.

Mrs. Garcia is being held in Lee County jail under $100,000. Judge Bales denied a motion Thursday to reduce her bond to $25,000 as requested by her attorney.

No date has been set for a trial. A hearing on motions yet to be filed was scheduled for Oct. 9.

Terronez was found shot to death in his rented Natchua House motel room on May 15. A .38-caliber bullet was found lodged in a pillow beneath his head. No weapon has been found. Terronez was a police officer in Sterling and lived near the defendant in the Coloma Court Housing Project.

Trying to reach Dixon's unreachable

Mini-bike program for 'be-teen' generation launched

Say, have you noticed the absence of a good segment of 11-15-year-old youth within our society? Somehow we have lost them in the mainstream of life. You might call them the "be-teen" generation. They are too young to really be a teen and too old to be thought of as a child.

Thus, they are lost and in some cases unreachable. They no longer attend church, they are truant from school, and they have begun a deep search.

In this time of their life, they are becoming aware of themselves as young men and women who have a desire to take part and have a voice. Yet, we have alienated them because "they're not old enough."

This alienation eventually expresses itself in some way and usually it will be through inappropriate behavior. We are angered when our children act in this way and yet we have given them no other choice. Agencies working with youth have worked very hard to help this age group for fear of losing them. Their programs have not always been successful in meeting their needs.

Late in the year of 1969 at the northeast branch of the Los Angeles YMCA, the problems of the "be-teens" were met head-on by a youth-outreach worker assigned to that task. He began a project with 15 boys; most of them were referrals from the schools and youth authorities. The idea was to use the "mini-bike" as an attractive tool for development of a small group club program with these so-called hard-to-reach youth. The project was carefully documented by the youth workers and showed many unprecedented successes. The nationwide project started in late 1970 and early 1971, under the title of NYPUM (National Youth Program Using Mini-bikes). The results were positive in behavior modification, community collaboration and safety training.

NYPUM has a unique and unusual ability and potential to meet all of the basic needs of these alienated youth. The mini-bike is a powerful tool for the youth of this age. It "turns on" youth because mini-bikes are a "now" tool. It symbolizes to youth fun, excitement, adventure, mobility, and status. To ride skillfully and safely and be able to teach another means power, a sense of self-worth and competency. Many parents have commended the NYPUM program because for the first time it brought father and son much closer together and, in most cases, the entire family united.

The NYPUM staff, consisting of a director and four volunteers, are giving of themselves to make the Dixon Youth Project successful. The NYPUM director, Dan Graham, has recently undergone a vigorous 2-week training program in Chicago. The volunteer staff have also undergone a training session of their own at the YMCA.

Although the NYPUM program is backed by the National YMCA, the American Honda Motor Company, Inc. (who have donated 10,000 mini-bikes to the project), and the Dixon Jaycees (who have undertaken the responsibility of funding the Dixon program), its real success depends on local support.

Eligibility for participation is limited to those youths between 11-15 years of age. Seventy-five percent of the participants are referrals from non-YMCA agencies, including the county judiciary and local school system. The objective is simple: To reach out to the alienated youth which the family and other social structures have not been able to reach. Unification with other youth agencies (schools, police, probation officers, etc.) establishes a line of communication, support, and involvement to reach those youth who have demonstrated the greatest need for such a program.

NYPUM is a delinquency prevention project. A recreational or safety-riding program is a valuable activity for any youth, but it is not NYPUM. The bikes will be used only 25 per cent of the time by the participants. A relationship between the youth and the outreach worker must be established on grounds away from the bike.

Our goal in Dixon is to help these young people to grow into responsible positions as young adults in our ever-increasingly complex society. In addition, we will seek to establish within them a sense of awareness of themselves and all that is around them, a sense of responsibility, and a sense of sharing with others.

With the help of Honda, YMCA's, Jaycees, and other service organizations all over the country are beginning to reach the youth they were never able to reach before. Alienated youth are being linked to the world they thought had rejected them. Problem youth have alternatives to drugs and vandalism. And what may well turn out to be the paradox of the decade, the alternatives are motorbikes. The beasts that everyone blamed as the corrupters of youth just a few short years ago have become the instrument of hope.

Asking $465,000

Church is defendant in hayride injury suit

A hayride accident which hospitalized a Dixon youth May 26 has resulted in a $465,000 damage suit filed here against St. Patrick's Church, Aetna Insurance Co., and the owner and driver of the hayrack.

The suit was filed Monday by Ronald Helfrich, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Helfrich, 601 W. First St.

Helfrich, 14 at the time of the accident, suffered extensive injuries when he fell from the hayrack and was run over. The accident occurred on Wildcat Road, two miles north of Dixon.

Helfrich was participating in a church-sponsored hayride when he fell between two hayracks, while one was passing the other.

The suit charges Ray Prindaville, owner of the hayracks, and Edward Fritts, driver of one of the hayracks, with negligence.

Helfrich, a passenger on the hayrack driven by Fritts, fell to the ground and was run over by the passing hayrack operated by Prindaville, the suit claims.

Prindaville is charged with failing to have installed guard rails on the side of the hayrack to restrain a fall, failing to stop the throwing of hay from the hayrack; failing to instruct Fritts to stop swerving the hayrack, and failing to instruct the driver to slow down.

In the suit, Fritts is accused of negligent driving in attempting to pass Prindaville's hayrack.

Agents of St. Patrick's Church, who supervised the ride, are charged with negligently allowing the throwing of hay from the hayrack and failing to warn the driver that Helfrich had fallen.

The suit asks damages of $150,000 each from Prindaville, Fritts and St. Patrick's Church.

Aetna Insurance Co., with whom Prindaville carries liability insurance, has refused to pay medical bills totaling $5,000, the suit claims. The suit seeks recovery of the hospital bills and $10,000 in punitive damages from Aetna. The suit charges Aetna "willfully and maliciously" refused to make payment.

A jury trial was demanded.

REFLECTIONS— That the tax-exempt bond market is a basic source of long-term funds for state and local government capital improvements is clearly shown by the fact that, just after World War II, $16 billion of these bonds were outstanding while, by the end of 1972, the total outstanding had skyrocketed to $162 billion.

The all-time high record of issuance of tax-free bonds was reached in 1971 when $24.4 billion were sold. The issues in 1972 were down from this by 6 per cent, $22.9 billion.

The savings to local and state government on interest on tax-free bonds over the years average about 30 per cent.

The Tax Foundation, a private taxpayers' watchdog, recently estimated long-term borrowing for new capital by state and local government will rise to $26 billion by 1975 and to $35 billion by 1980.

The foundation analysis pointed out the needs of a growing population will require spending on everything from police forces to antipollution programs.

Recent testimony taken by the Ways and Means Committee of the U.S. House of Representatives from "expert witnesses" showed mixed feelings and opinions.

On one side it was argued, keep the basic tax-exempt provision but add an option known as the taxable bond; while at the opposite pole, others maintained things should be left alone.

Those who favor issuing taxable bonds assert commercial banks, which have been the principal buyers of municipal bonds in the past, now have little room in their investment portfolios for increasing holdings and hence new investors must be attracted to this market.

They see this market as being those who do not need tax exemption, the untaxed pension funds, public foundations and other lightly taxed institutions.

To attract such investors will require interest rates becoming competitive to other taxable securities.

Costs to the federal government of the interest subsidy called for in the taxable-bond option, if exercised, would range from 30 to 50 per cent, and it is claimed would be offset by increased tax revenues from investors who bought the new taxable securities.

The interest subsidies would be paid to the local government units issuing taxable bonds.

As noted in Monday's column, it is estimated the federal government revenue loss from tax-exempt bonds in 1971 was $800 million more than was the savings realized by local government-bond issuers from decreased interest rates.

The greatest fear expressed by the proponents of leaving things as they are was that, should the taxable bond be enacted by Congress, that the tax-exempt market would wither away. Coupled with this was the apprehensive voice that in some years hence Congress might decide to repeal the taxable-bond option, leaving the states and localities with no market at all.

Voice of the people

To the Editor:

Local No. 81, United Cement, Lime and Gypsum Workers International Union represents 160 production and maintenance employees at the Dixon plant of Medusa Cement Company. As you can see, we have a direct interest in the public hearing to be held in Dixon, Oct. 4, 1973.

Our International and local union are in favor of improving the quality of the environment. Most of us have children or grandchildren and we must think of the future generations to come.

Nevertheless, while we are concerned with the quality of the environment, we also are vitally concerned with the social and economic impact on the workers and the community, if a variance is not granted, when compliance can be had within a reasonable time.

Our members have always contributed over 100 per cent of their goal to the United Fund, supported the YMCA building fund and other community projects and programs.

The cement plant employs 180 people with an annual payroll of $2,350,000. The annual cost of services from 40 local businesses to operate the plant is $3,400,000. The local trucking company and railroads cost to the plant to transport raw materials into the plant and cement out is $2,100,000 annually. This adds up to $8,000,000 every year, besides the property taxes and payroll taxes the company pays. Besides this, the employees insurance claims Medusa has paid to the local doctors and hospital. What is lost by the shutdown of the plant, must be paid for by the community.

Another point to note is that every shut-down of a plant is an added incentive to foreign imports. We have enough unemployment in this country and to add the employees of Medusa's Dixon plant to the unemployment rolls, would not be in the best interest of the city or the nation.

During 1972, imports of foreign cement were up 50 per cent over 1971 imports. Government should not create unemployment for our citizens, because all of our men want to have the opportunity to be gainfully employed in our industry and make our contribution to the community and society in general. If our industry is shut down, who will shut down the industries of Europe and Russia, in order that they do not emit pollutants?

Since 1970 Medusa has spent $800,000 on anti-pollution equipment, and is now planning to invest another one million dollars for the purchase and installation of additional pollution control devices. In 1970, Medusa made promises and kept them, and we believe wholeheartedly they will again.

All Medusa seeks is time to be in compliance with clean air regulations, which they have not resisted in the past and which they pledge to conform to now.

All Medusa asks for is time to get the job done and all the union asks for is to allow Medusa to continue operations while the necessary pollution control equipment is being designed, manufactured, delivered and installed.

Local No. 81, supports Medusa's position for a temporary variance. We hope that the Environmental Protection Agency will give favorable consideration to Medusa's request.

Don't chase Medusa out of the community. The community needs Medusa and Medusa needs the community. Both can live together as good neighbors.

Sincerely yours,
John P. Cleary, Rec. Secy.

Things Dixon Talked About

10 YEARS AGO

Dedication ceremonies for the new log shelter at Camp Henry C. Warner of the Blackhawk Area Council of Boy Scouts of America, will take place at 2:30 p.m. Sunday at the Camp.

Dixon will host 60 to 75 sewage treatment plant operators, superintendents, and engineers Wednesday. The group will spend the day touring Dixon's new facility.

The Madison School conference for parents of eighth grade pupils with guidance department counselors and school administrators will be held at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the school.

25 YEARS AGO

Students of Temperance Hill School, accompanied by their teacher, toured the Telegraph plant yesterday.

Tuesday, Oct. 5, is the last day on which voters can qualify to vote in the November elections.

Dixon members of the Food Distributors Assn., of Illinois will attend the annual convention to be held in Peoria Sunday.

100 YEARS AGO

The Iowa River is now lower than it has been for 21 years. Rock River here in Illinois, is about as low as it ever gets to be, so far as we or Father Dixon knows.

The dry weather has so killed the grass that the cows fall in their milk, and it is felt in the high price of butter by boarding house managers and heads of families.

From the Rock Falls Progress we learn of several changes to be made in government officials in Sterling. H. S. Street, has resigned the deputy collectorship, and Sampson no longer wants to be storekeeper.

THINGS YOU MAY NOT KNOW ABOUT CONSERVING ELECTRICITY

Forgotten filters can cost you money.

Since filters are usually out of sight, they're usually out of mind. That is, until you notice something wrong with your heating or air conditioning. Then you may find a dirty filter behind it.

Dust or lint on filters reduces your system's ability to move heated or cooled air.

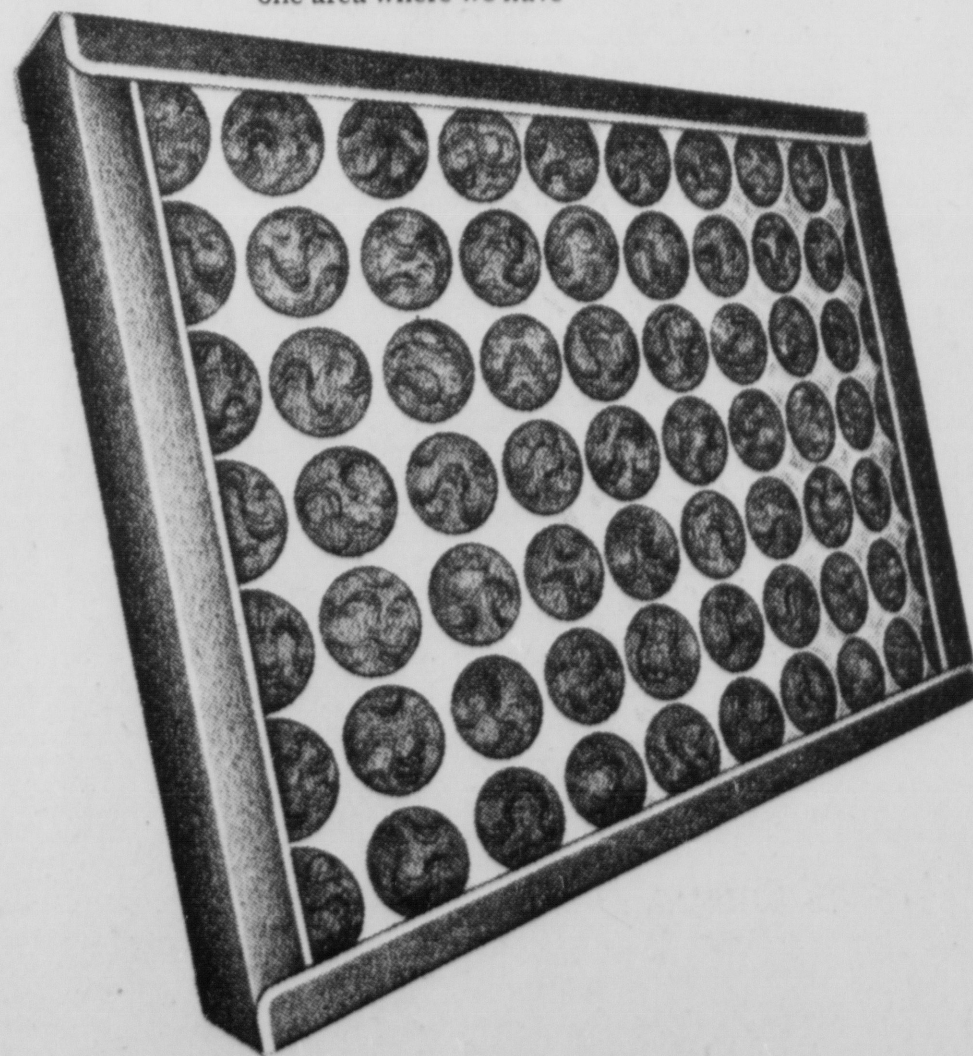

It's a good idea to check your filters every 30-60 days. To remind yourself, you may want to do it the same day you pay your fuel bill. If the filter is dirty, clean or replace it. Clean filters also help keep your home cleaner. This principle applies essentially to all heating fuels—electricity, gas or oil.

Don't forget the filter on your clothes dryer either. Clean it after every load to keep your dryer in top operating condition. Maintaining clean filters is only one area where we have information that can help you conserve energy. If you would like our booklet "101 Ways to Conserve Electricity at Home," write Commonwealth Edison, Department AV, P.O. Box 767, Chicago, Illinois 60690. We'll send it to you free.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE Y-532: Dennis M., aged 17, is a high school senior.

"Dr. Crane," a friend of his family informed me, "Dennis is a good student and works long hours after school to earn his own money."

"For example, he washes dishes till 11 p.m. every night at the restaurant in his village."

"Recently, he developed a severe pain in his lower abdomen, so he consulted his family physician."

"The doctor ordered him to the hospital at once, for Dennis had a case of acute appendicitis."

"The operation was successful, and I visited Dennis next day."

"While I was there, Dennis said he needed the nurse, so I finally located her."

"When she came into the room, however, she reprimanded Dennis for not pushing the button on the electrical signal system at the side of his bed."

"She added, 'Why didn't you call me yourself? Didn't the other nurse explain to you about that button?'"

"Dennis shook his head in embarrassment, for he comes from a farm and had never been inside a hospital before.

"Dr. Crane, I wish you'd alert nurses and physicians not to take so much for granted regarding their patients."

"Many young folks, as well as their parents, are still novices about hospital procedure, so they shouldn't be criticized the way Dennis was, don't you agree?"

Hospital-Psychology
Yes, indeed!

And I lecture widely before medical, as well as dental societies, plus nurses and dental assistants.

For 35 years I have also written a monthly essay for Cal Dental Journal.

The theme of each month's article therein is "Psychology in Professional Practice."

And "Professional Practice" applies to lawyers, clergymen, teachers, engineers, as well as physicians and dental surgeons.

For one of our most likely errors in dealing with the public is to assume that our language is A-B-C to them!

Actually, it is usually X-Y-Z, even to college graduates who haven't been steeped in our specific technical jargon.

One of the commonest types of criticism that editors tell me they receive about this daily column on practical psychology, is from my own psychology colleagues at the universities.

"That awful Dr. Crane!" such "ivory tower" professors will write. "He is belittling the dignity of us psychology professors by use of two-syllable words!"

Actually, any applied psychologist would consider that criticism a definite compliment!

For you can't persuade or influence the public successfully with five-syllable vocabulary.

Which is also why the average word in the Bible has but two syllables!

Employers are also guilty of "talking over the heads" of workers and of failing to give them the total perspective needed to understand that Big Business averaged last year a meager four per cent profits AFTER TAXES!

Yet Big Business is the source of jobs and pay checks, though always the favorite target of selfish politicians who constantly accuse Big Business of avoiding taxes and living in bloated financial luxury!

So send for my "Tests for Employer and Employee," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents, and learn how to understand both sides!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of the Dixon Evening Telegraph, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs, when you send for one of his booklets.)

Mt. Morris church is setting for Clawson-Macchi wedding

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT G. MACCHI

MT. MORRIS — The United Methodist Church was the setting for the Sept. 8 marriage of Miss Rebecca Rosemary Clawson, daughter of the William W. Clawsons, Mt. Morris, to Robert Gene Macchi, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Macchi, Polo.

The 2 p.m. wedding was performed by the Rev. James Scorgie, pastor of the church, and organ music was provided by Miss Debbie Jacobs, Byron. Arrangements of gladioli in autumn colors decorated the church altar.

For her wedding, the bride selected a floor-length gown of white organza designed with a lace-covered empire bodice featuring a high neckline and full-lace sleeves. The bouquet she carried as she was escorted to the altar by her father, combined orange roses, white and yellow daisies and English ivy.

The bride's matron of honor, Mrs. Gregory Glenn, was attired in a full-length peach-colored gown complemented by a picture hat and brown accessories. She also carried a bouquet of orange roses, yellow and white daisies and foliage.

Attending Mr. Macchi as best man was David Jancek, Polo, and wedding guests were ushered by William L. Clawson, Rockford, and Peter H. Clawson.

The refreshment table arranged for a reception in the church social hall following the ceremony was centered by a decorated wedding cake, which was served by Miss Debra Horstmeier, Davis, and presiding at the coffee service and punch bowl were Miss Debra Jacobs, Byron, and Mrs. Dale McAlonan. Guests were registered by Miss Shelly Weng Oregon, and in charge of the gift table were Miss Connie Sneek and Miss Jean Macchi, Polo.

The bride attended Mt. Morris High School and Oregon Community High School, and was an employee of Kable News Company prior to her marriage. Mr. Macchi, a graduate of Polo Community High School, is presently serving with the Navy Seabees in Glenview, where they are residing.

Plans were also made for a bus trip to Chicago Nov. 11 to attend a performance of the Ice Follies, and the next meeting was announced for Oct. 10, with Mrs. Connie James and her co-hostesses, Mrs. Fred Padgett and Mrs. Fahs.

Lutheran circle

Circle One of St. Paul Lutheran Church will meet at 2 p.m. Thursday in the church fireside room when co-hostesses will be Mrs. Charles Ports and Mrs. Elmer Schulte.

Dixon Evening Unit meeting

Mrs. Peter McKune, chairman of the Dixon Evening Homemakers Extension Unit, presided at the unit's September meeting in Loveland Community House when a collection was taken for "Pennies for Friendship," and members described things purchasers of electrical appliances should observe.

A report was given by Mrs. Sheldon Bross, and the membership chairman, Mrs. Russell Burnell, announced that October would be observed as "membership month." Mrs. Howard Morey presented a minor lesson on "Shopping Tips when Selecting Electrical Appliances," and she also reported on a county association meeting in Paw Paw.

Additions to the unit constitution were distributed, and the major lesson, "Make Today — Serve Tomorrow," was given by Mrs. Burnell, who suggested that meals should be planned around a main dish selected carefully, and that all foods should be appetizing in appearance and flavor. She also discussed various foods that freeze and store easily, and her presentation included the preparation of cauliflower salad.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Blanche McCaherty and Miss Ruby Nattress, from a table covered with lace over orange linen. Centering the table were orange candles in crystal holders, and a floral arrangement in a spinning wheel container.

Attending as guests were Mrs. Clarence Bush, Mrs. David Evans and Mrs. William Thomas.

By Oswald & James Jacoby
When you play Jacoby transfer or JTB in its basic form, all two-level suit responses to a one no-trump opening are artificial and forcing. Two clubs is Stayman and asks partner to bid two diamonds if he doesn't hold a four-card heart or spade suit and to bid two of a major if he has four cards there. If he holds two four-card majors he simply bids the better one.

Two diamonds is a heart transfer. It guarantees at least five hearts and asks partner to bid two hearts whereupon responder will bid along.

Two hearts is a similar transfer and shows at least five spades.

North wants to play four hearts, once he hears his partner's no-trump opening. He bids two diamonds to transfer to hearts and then takes his partner right to game.

West opens the 10 of diamonds. East wins and returns the jack of spades. South rises with the ace; discards the two losing spades in dummy on his good diamonds and winds up losing just three tricks.

If North and South are not playing JTB, North will wind up in four hearts. East will make his normal opening of the spade jack and there will be no way to keep the defense from scoring tricks with the king of spades and the aces of the other three suits.

Miss Sarver weds Ronald Hicks

MR. AND MRS. RONALD L. HICKS

WALNUT — Recent marriage vows were exchanged in the United Methodist Church by Miss Debra Jo Sarver, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Everett L. Sarver Jr., Walnut, and Ronald Lee Hicks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Hicks, Rt. 1, Harmon.

The double-ring wedding was performed by the Rev. James O. Davis, and Mrs. Geraldine Anderson, organist, accompanied vocal selections by Mrs. Ronald Hedrick and Jerry Jacobson. Arrangements of white gladioli and green-tinted carnations decorated the church altar.

Organza and Lace

Given in marriage by her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Everett L. Sarver Jr., the bride was attired in a gown of white silk organza trimmed with Venetian daisy lace. The gown's empire bodice, fashioned with a sheer yoke, a lace wedding-ring collar and lace-trimmed bishop sleeves, topped a floor-length skirt accented by a hemline border of lace and a detachable chapel train falling from waistline appliques of lace. A contoured headpiece of lace flowers held her elbow-length illusion veil, and she carried a cascade of white roses, green carnations, baby's breath and ivy.

Mrs. William Elmore, Abingdon, was her sister's matron of honor, and bridal attendants were Mrs. Lee Tate, La Moille, also a sister of the bride; Miss Gayle TerBush and Miss Sue Schlumpf. Their identical floor-length gowns of mint-green satin were styled with matching chiffon overskirts and fitted bodices trimmed with white lace. Mrs. Elmore carried a basket filled with green and white daisy pompons and white roses, and the baskets carried by the attendants held green and white daisy pompons.

A similar costume was worn by the flower girl, Miss Diane Sarver, niece of the bride, and her nephew, Michael Sarver, participated as ringbearer. James Wallace, Harmon, was the bridegroom's best man; Bruce Lusz, Rocky Schultz, Amboy, and James Hicks, Harmon, served as groomsmen, and ushering was done by Thomas Hicks, Richard Haefner, David Hicks and the bridegroom's brother, Allen Hicks, all of Harmon.

A reception in the church social hall following the ceremony was attended by approximately 175 guests, who were registered by the bride's sister, Miss Vicki Sarver.

Hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Gary Sarver, brother and sister-in-law of the bride, and in charge of the gift table were Miss Ann Hicks, Mrs. Rodney Worton, Mrs. William Carrington, all of Harmon, and Mrs. Gregory Ives, Byron, sisters of the bridegroom. They were assisted by Miss Mary Lisa Elmore, niece of the bride.

A decorated wedding cake was served by Mrs. Ray Schultz and Miss Judy Barkley, as punch and coffee were poured by Mrs. Thomas Parrott and Miss Bonnie Fritz, and additional assistants were Miss Barbara Von Holten and Miss Elaine Smith.

The bride attended Whiteside Area Vocational Center for two years following her 1973 graduation from Walnut High School, and her husband, a 1971 graduate of Amboy High School, is stationed with the Air Force at Castle AFB, Calif.

To California
Since their wedding trip enroute to their new home, the newlyweds have been residing at 1848 Grove Ave., Atwater, Calif.

The bridegroom's parents hosted a wedding rehearsal dinner at Emerald Hill Country Club, and pre-nuptial parties honoring the bride included a personal shower arranged by Mrs. Parrott, and a miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. Worton, Mrs. Ives and Mrs. Carrington.

Polly's Problem
DEAR POLLY — Can someone tell me how to hang pictures on plastered walls without using nails? I have tried those stick-on hangers but they came loose after a few weeks. — MARGARET

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve concerns some of the problems a college student may encounter when looking for a job. Some prospective employers may say we are overtrained for a minimum wage job, but on the other hand there are those who say we do not have the experience for a higher paying position. The result is that many of us are forced to look for jobs out of our field (of course, without experience) or we remain overtrained, inexperienced and UNEMPLOYED. — Marcia

DEAR POLLY — I have an answer for Ilsey who wants to keep her little girl's first communion dress white. I work in a dry cleaning shop and, to keep our customers' wedding dresses from yellowing, we pack them in nice boxes that have been lined with blue tissue paper. We carefully fold each dress with more of the blue paper making sure it is well covered. The box is tightly sealed with package tape and the dress should be good as new when the box is reopened. — MARY W.

Circle meeting

Mrs. Leaman speaks at DAR Constitution Luncheon

Members of the Dixon Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, joined members of the Sterling and Mt. Carroll DAR Chapters at a recent Constitution Luncheon in the Steak House West, Sterling, when the guest speaker was Mrs. Cleland E. Leaman, Wilmette, Illinois State DAR Regent.

Other special guests were Mrs. Albert Triebel, Rockford, Division Two chairman, and Mrs. Ward B. Manchester, Morrison, State National Defense chairman.

Mrs. Leaman, a member of Fort Dearborn DAR Chapter since 1942, has previously served as state recording secretary, 1971 Illinois hospitality chairman for Illinois in Washington D.C., and she is a member of the State Officers Club and the Ex-Regents Club. She was appointed by the DAR President General to serve on the Hospitality Committee at the Continental Congress, and she is the present national vice chairman of the Flag of the United States of America.

A native of Virginia, Mrs. Leaman was educated at the College of William and Mary in Williamsburg, Va. During her term as regent of Fort Dearborn chapter, a flag bearing her

MRS. CLELAND LEAMAN name, which flies daily on the campus of the Illinois Institute of Technology, was dedicated. Luncheon guests were welcomed by Miss Laura Chalmers, regent of Rock River Chapter, Sterling, and the singing of the national anthem was led by Mrs. R. H. Harridge, Dixon.

Mrs. Fred Lawton, Dixon, read a letter from the president general, and a report was given on activities at the two DAR schools—Tamassee School at Tamassee, S.C., and Kate Duncan School, Grant, Ala.

The national defense report was presented by Mrs. Clarence Colehour, Mt. Carroll, and Mrs. George Gibbs, regent of the Mt. Carroll chapter, introduced Mrs. Leaman who chose "For Us They Signed" as the topic of her address.

She stated that the 56 signers of the Declaration of Independence were well-educated, and the group included one minister, Dr. Weatherspoon, and 10 sons of ministers. Two were bachelors; seven were past 60; 18 were in their thirties and three were in their twenties.

Mrs. Leaman announced that Mrs. Waklee R. Smith, present corresponding secretary general of the National Daughters of the American Revolution, is a candidate for the office of first vice president general, and she also stated that the DAR had presented four $1,000 scholarships annually to selected students of Illinois accredited colleges.

The Preamble of the Constitution printed on souvenir booklets presented to each guest, was read following Mrs. Leaman's program, and Mrs. Triebel announced a roundtable luncheon for today in the Silo Restaurant, Oregon.

Caught after chase in which six died

More harrassment in drug raids is alleged by woman

COLLINSVILLE, Ill. (AP) — More allegations of harassment have been made by a Collinsville drug raid victim—this time by one who says she was attacked in her home Friday night.

Virginia Askew, 34, took time out from an interview with the FBI at her home Monday to tell a reporter the beating was not the first of what she thinks are attempts to intimidate her and her husband Donald.

On April 23 agents of the now-defunct St. Louis Office of Drug Abuse Law Enforcement raided the Askew home by mistake. Since then, Mrs. Askew said, she has received silent telephone calls at odd hours, has returned home to find her doors open and on occasion all the drawers in the house have been pulled out in her absence.

Twice the television has been taken but those were the only thefts, she said. She has reported each incident to the police, she said. The last was Saturday when she came home and found the front door "wide open."

"I think somebody is trying to keep us nervous," she said. A few days after the raid she had to be hospitalized for treatment of a nervous condition.

Friday night, by her account, a black-haired man in a black coat struck her with a weapon when she opened the door. At first she said she was positive he was one of the raiders, but now she does not know. The blow opened a gash in her scalp that took eight stitches to close and knocked the dentures out of her mouth.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Giglotto, victims of another mistaken raid by the same agents, have complained of harassment and are in hiding.

A dozen DALE agents have been indicted by a federal grand jury for violating the civil rights of raid victims.

Except by circumstance, Mrs. Askew said, she cannot link the raid, the beating and the other incidents.

Police Chief Paul Cigliana and State's Atty. Nicholas Byron said Monday they are investigating the beating but are not ready to accuse anyone. Mrs. Askew was shown photographs—among them those of the agents—but was unable to identify her assailant. Eight agents, the chief said, have been asked to be ready to appear in a line-up for possible identification but none was scheduled Monday.

Statements to newsmen by Cigliana have made Mrs. Askew "a little bit perturbed." Saturday he told a reporter, "The whole thing has been blown out of proportion."

Mrs. Askew said Monday, "I just wonder if it was his family if he'd think it was blown out of proportion."

ICC ruled out as CATV regulator

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — The Illinois Supreme Court has ruled that state law does not give the Illinois Commerce Commission the authority to regulate the state's cable television industry.

The court ruled Monday that cable television does not fall within the definition of a public utility under state law.

The ICC has assumed the authority, contending that cable television companies transmitted information in a similar manner as telephone companies which it regulates.

In its decision announced without dissent, the state court quoted a similar case before the California Supreme Court in which it said "in common understanding, telephone, telegraph, radio and television corporations are each different from each other, and until the legislature otherwise provides, we must so regard them."

The Illinois court said: "If the jurisdiction of the commission under the Public Utilities Act is to be expanded to the entire public telecommunications field, that should be done by the legislature and not by the commission upon its own order or by this court."

The ruling upheld a Circuit Court decision in McHenry County that the ICC has erred in assuming authority over cable television.

Rusty Staub paces the win Mets win East pennant

CHICAGO (AP) — The New York Mets are champions of the National League East and they did it in Chicago, as if to flaunt their success in the face of the failure-ridden Cubs.

The Mets clinched it Monday in a 6-4 victory over the Cubs, who once were eight games ahead of the field in the East but then did their customary fold.

Mets third baseman Wayne Garrett told newsmen in the champagne-drenched dressing room afterward he never was discouraged when the Cubs were so far ahead.

"Not really," he said. "Chicago has always done it (fold.) Three out of five years I've been here the Cubs have gotten way out in front at the start then all of a sudden they hit the wall."

"But I'll admit back in June when they had the best record in the majors I thought they had a lot better chance than we did," Garrett said.

The Mets clinched their title in a morning game, the first of a scheduled double-header. Fifteen minutes after it was over, the meaningless second contest was called off and the champagne was uncorked.

Everybody got splattered, from the batboy to Manager Yogi Berra.

"You've got to believe," exclaimed relief pitcher Tug McGraw, uncorking his champagne.

Rusty Staub, who hammered out four hits in leading the way into the pennant playoff against Cincinnati, declared: "I came here to play."

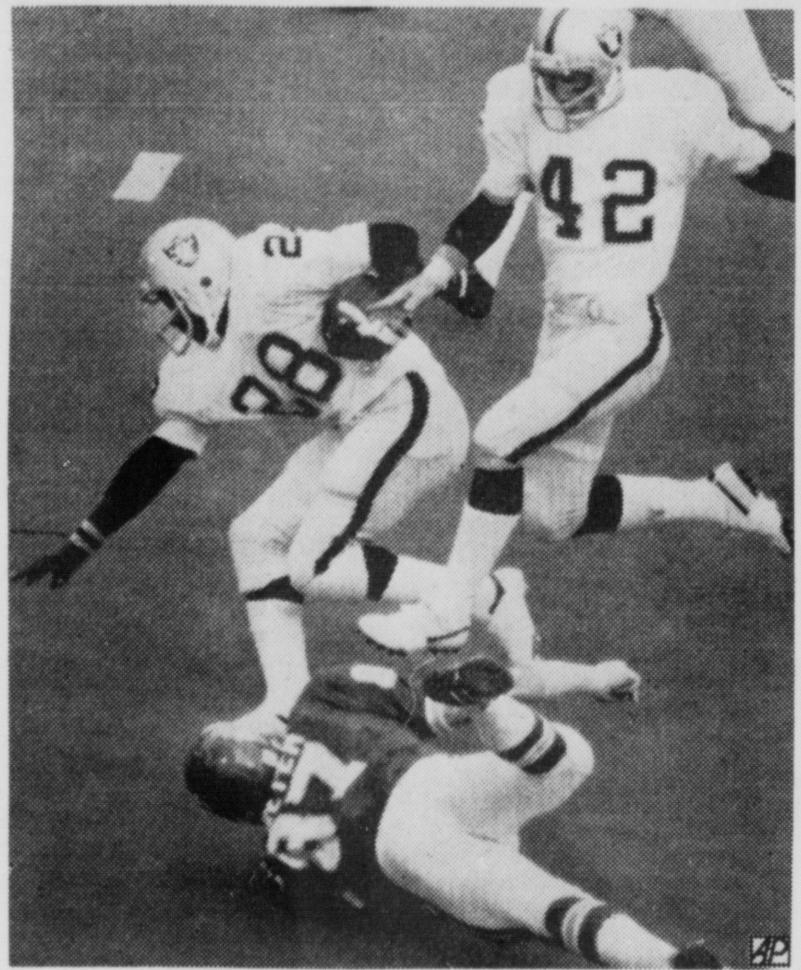

"A couple of months ago we were out of it," he said. "Then we put it all together."

Berra said that only once during the season did he think the Mets might not make it.

"That's when we were about 12 games out," Berra said, "and had all those injuries."

"I guess the baseball race is like a distance runner," Garrett said. "If you give it all you've got at the beginning, you've got nothing left at the end."

"You've got to save a little so you have that last kick," he added.

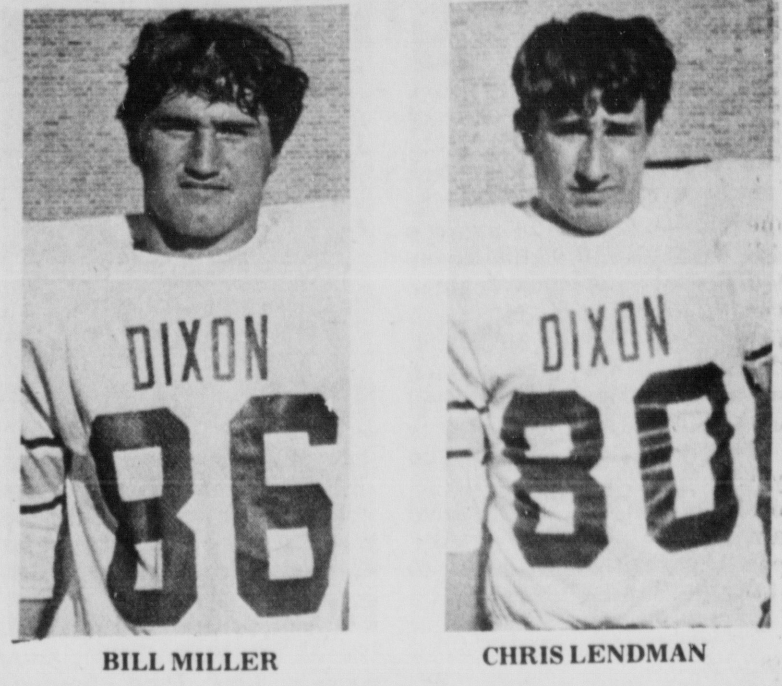

OAKLAND RAIDERS' Clarence Davis (28) stumbles but regains his feet after eluding tackler John Lohmeyer (87) of the Kansas City Chiefs and then going on to return a kickoff for 76 yards in a play at Kansas City. Tom Maxwell (42) served as blocker on the long run. Chiefs won, 16-3. (AP Wirephoto)

Miller-Lendman honored

Seniors Bill Miller and Chris Lendman have been named Dixon High School players of the week for their parts in the 8-0 victory over Streator Friday night. The game was the opening encounter in the NCIC Northwest conference for the Dukes.

Miller, a 6-0-195 pound defensive end, was credited with "an outstanding job at his position," by Dixon varsity football coach Jim Leffelman. Miller contributed two tackles, one sack of the quarterback and caused a fumble as the defense held Streator to only 68 yards in the game.

Lendman scored the only touchdown of the game on a 49-yard pass from Dixon quarterback Ned Vail and rushed for 41 yards in six carries.

Gibron's comments

CHICAGO (AP)— "The team that stays healthy will win it."

That is Coach Abe Gibron of the Chicago Bears talking about the National Football Conference's rugged Central Division race now headed by the Minnesota Vikings with a 3-0 record.

Gibron's Bears Sunday won their first start in three games with a 33-14 victory over the favored Denver Broncos.

In a Monday session, Gibron said "we now have won one after giving two away." The losses he referred to were a 20-17 defeat by the Dallas Cowboys and a 22-13 setback by the Vikings.

"Minnesota is out in front now in our division, but I think we can play with them when we meet again." The Bears play at Minnesota Nov. 25.

The Bears next invade New Orleans Sunday to play the winless Saints (0-3) and Gibron said his club wasn't expecting a cake-walk.

"They are fighting for their lives," said Gibron. "It's going to be a real football game. Our biggest problem this week is to guard against overconfidence, but with one victory we won't get too high. We have enough personal pride to keep going at our best."

"Gibron, noting that 'something has got to be done about field-goal kicking' in the National Football League, said he was still undecided about retaining both his own two field-goal kickers.

A total of 38 field goals were booted in the NFL last Sunday, including two each against Denver by the Bears' soccer-style kickers Miro Roder and Mac Percival.

"We've had eight of nine field goals kicked against us, including a game-winner by Dallas and five by Minnesota," said Gibron. "The reason for the whole thing is due to the new hash marks which have eliminated angle field goals.

"I understand agents are hunting all over Europe and Africa looking for soccer-style kickers to sell to the pros. The kicking game now is being exploited all over the league."

Gibron lauded fullback Jim Harrison, who scored against Denver twice, on a 44-yard pass from Bobby Douglass and on a five-yard smash, and rushed a total of 98 yards.

"If I had known he was only two yards short of 100 yards, I wouldn't have pulled him against the Broncos," said Gibron. "A 100-yard game is a helluva thing for a fullback."

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Lions shifted to "reverse" gear Monday night and left the Atlanta Falcons stuck in "park."

It was what the Lions needed if they intend to drive toward the National Football League playoffs and it put a detour in Atlanta's path to their division flag.

A pair of razzle-dazzle reverse plays, plus the superb running of substitute fullback Mel Farr, sparked Detroit to a 31-6 thrashing of the Falcons before a crowd of 45,599 and a national television audience.

The triumph was the first for the Lions against a loss and tie, while Atlanta has lost two straight after an impressive 62-7 victory over New Orleans.

The game opened the Don McCafferty era at Tiger Stadium.

And what a way to begin. McCafferty, who replaced Joe Schmidt as head coach this season, is noted for his occasional use of trick plays. The former coach of the Super Bowl champion Baltimore Colts wasted no time trying them out before the home fans.

Atlanta, however, wasted

Henry Aaron's missing homer

By MIKE CUNIFF

The pressure is off Atlanta slugger Henry Aaron now. The 1973 baseball season is finished for all the teams not involved with the play-offs and World Series. The relentless pursuit of Babe Ruth's all-time home run record has been postponed until opening day of 1974.

Aaron had moved to the threshold of the legendary Ruth's mark of 714 when he whacked his 40th of the year and 713th lifetime over the center field fence Saturday night off left-hander Jerry Reuss of the Houston Astros.

A season-high crowd of 40,517 fans poured into Atlanta Stadium despite threatening skies on Sunday, hoping to see baseball history. But Aaron failed to connect for No. 714; instead rapping three consecutive singles before lining out in his final at-bat of the season.

The home run count stalled on 713 didn't seem to faze Aaron who stated, "I am disappointed, yes, but I feel like I've got all year and all winter to go home and rest up. The last month has been really tiresome."

Ironically, the runner-up all-time home run hitter could have tied Ruth's 714 with his homer on Saturday but for the decision of an umpire on Aug. 18, 1965. It may live forever in baseball annals as "The Nullified Home Run."

To anyone but Aaron, the missing homer could be overlooked but with Henry certain to end up as the game's greatest home run hitter (barring injury), baseball purists will always add one extra four-bagger to Aaron's total—whatever it may be.

It will be like the asterisk on Maury Wills' base-stealing record or the 61 home runs collected by Roger Maris in 1961. Records are records and numbers are numbers.

But for that fateful night in August eight years ago Aaron would be tied with Ruth instead of still being second in the all-time race. The Braves were still based in Milwaukee then and were playing a night game at St. Louis in Busch Memorial Stadium.

The score was tied 3-3 in the eighth inning when Aaron came to bat. The Cardinal pitcher was crafty Curt Simmons; long an Aaron nemesis with his pinpoint control and change of speeds. In an attempt to crack Simmons' mastery, Henry moved up in the batter's box as the Cardinal hurler delivered a changeup in the fourth inning and singled to left.

In the eighth, Aaron tried it again and hit a drive onto the right field pavilion roof for an apparent home run. But plate umpire Chris Pelekoudas stopped play immediately and declared Aaron out. The arbiter said Henry had run out of the batter's box before he hit the pitch (a changeup).

"It's the worst call I've ever seen," Aaron said after the game. "I did the same thing the time before and he didn't say a word. I always hit Simmons that way." The ruling touched of a violent argument on the part of the Braves and culminated with the ejection of manager Bobby Bragan.

Simmons departed for a pinch-hitter in the bottom half of the eighth, but the Cardinals failed to score. When Milwaukee came to bat in the ninth, Ray Washburn was on the mound. Gene Oliver beat out an infield single but the next two batters were retired.

Pinch-hitter Don Dillard, who had spent most of the season playing for Atlanta and Syracuse in the International League, stepped to the plate and cracked a long drive to the right-center field wall. It appeared to hit near the top of the wall and bounce back for a double, but umpire Bill Jackowski ruled it a home run.

Jackowski maintained the ball struck on the top of the wall and glanced off a fan before rebounding onto the field. The Cardinals argued the ball hit the wall and was in play. Nonetheless, the disputed blast (Dillard's first major league home run since Aug. 26, 1963) stood and gave the Braves a 5-3 victory, enabling them to take over first place in the National League.

Fans say baseball is a game of inches and statistics. It's also a game of decisions and individual heroes and routine players. For every name that is remembered, hundreds are forgotten.

Who remembers Don Dillard? Probably no one but his relatives. And who remembers the mid-summer night in 1965 when Henry Aaron belted what he thought was a home run? Newsprint becomes yellow and faded like an autumn leaf.

Time marches onward waiting for no mortal man. Every person gets a little older each day and the reflexes so vitally needed to propel a baseball out of the park become a little slower. Henry stays on; chasing the shadow of Ruth as the fans watch. History is being made.

National 4-H week "gets it together"

"4-H Gets It All Together," the theme for the 1973 National 4-H Week, Oct. 7 to 13, reflects today's 4-H objectives. 4-H is concerned with helping young people "get it together" — to develop the personal skills and attitudes they need to become a complete individual.

In Lee County, more than 850 young people took part in 4-H programs last year. They're among more than 79,000 who participate in 4-H throughout the state.

4-H has come a long way from its beginnings as an organization primarily for rural boys and girls. Farm boys and girls continue to make up an important segment of 4-H's membership. But as the number of people who live on farms continue to decline, young people in towns and cities are filling the ranks and taking advantage of what 4-H has to offer.

Last year, about 33,000 Illinois 4-H'ers reported "farm" as their places of residence. More than 27,500 lived in small towns and open country; 10,500 lived in towns and cities of 10,000 to 50,000 people; and more than 8,000 called cities and suburbs of cities with more than 50,000 people home.

Another 80,000 young people, mainly in the metropolitan Chicago area, participated in the program through "Mulligan Stew," a 4-H television series.

The projects 4-H'ers are involved in are as varied as their backgrounds and interests. Projects run the gamut from the traditional livestock, crops, cooking and sewing projects to aerospace, meteorology and climatology, money management, tourism, photography, and arts, crafts and music.

4-H project activities teach young people useful skills that they can use all their lives. But, while they're learning skills, they're also learning important lessons about leadership, group action and community service.

The social and leadership qualities that young people develop through 4-H are perhaps more important than the project skills they learn. These are the qualities that make a complete individual — one who is able to get along in and make a real contribution to his community, his state and his country.

The Illinois 4-H program is part of the University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service. Extension Service advisers in each county carry out local programs.

But the state and county staff can only go so far. Much of the credit for 4-H's success belongs to volunteer leaders who generously share their time and talents with 4-H'ers.

More than 16,700 Illinois residents volunteered to work with 4-H'ers last year. In Lee County, over 90 leaders are now working with many project and activity areas.

The Lee County 4-H program is open to all young people, nine to 19 years of age. To find out more about the 4-H, contact Ron Pierce at the Lee County Extension Office, Amboy.

Fuel shortage termed 'not serious' here

By M. T. BARTASS
Lee Co. Extension Adviser

Farmers and elevators using natural gas can expect no serious problems if they are on non-interruptible service rates unless there are extreme weather conditions. Customers who are on interruptible service contracts have already been alerted by their supplier to expect at least as many interruptions as last year and should be prepared with adequate supplies of alternative fuels if they expect to dry during peak use periods. Nearly all companies supplying natural gas indicated restrictions on the addition of new customers for grain drying or any expansion of drying capacity.

Supplies of LP gas are also below normal. In a survey made by the Illinois LP Gas Association, suppliers reported that they expected to receive only 80.6 percent of their needs for LP gas between now and April 1, 1974. Farmers and elevators using LP gas should fill storage tanks immediately in order to assure their supply and to lessen delivery problems during periods of peak use. Check with your individual distributor since the situation varies widely among individual firms. Changes from one type of fuel to another should not be undertaken without a guarantee of adequate supplies.

In view of the potential energy crisis, you may want to consider alternatives to reduce the fuel used for drying grain:

—Dry with unheated air with airflows of: 1 cfm-bu for 22 per cent moisture content corn; 2 cfm-bu for 24 per cent moisture content corn; 3 cfm-bu for 26 per cent moisture content corn; 5 cfm-bu for 28 per cent moisture content corn.

—Use limited supplies of fuel to dry corn to 22 per cent moisture content and complete drying with 1 cfm-bu of unheated air, or combine drying and unheated air drying.

—Hold corn with a moisture content of 22 per cent or below during cold weather with an airflow of 1/2 cfm-bu.

—Use chemical preservatives to maintain quality of wet corn for livestock feed.

—Avoid drying grain below the maximum safe storage levels.

—Reduce temperatures on heated-air dryers to maintain quality and increase efficiency.

—Harvest corn at lower moisture levels.

Slower drying rates increase risk of mold development and corn should be checked frequently for deterioration. Additional information on these techniques is available in our Department of Agricultural Engineering, University of Illinois, bulletin on low temperature drying.

Surprisingly enough, total energy requirements for removing water from corn do not differ significantly regardless of the method or fuel used. Shifts between LP gas, natural gas, and fuel oil may help in local situations, but such shifts will provide only temporary relief at the best, because there appears to be a scarcity of all three.

Here's good Fire Prevention Week advice: Clothing can burn — and cause death or disfigurement.

With children especially, watch out for frilly, loose-fitting garments and sheer, fuzzy fabrics. All too often such materials catch fire easily and burn in a flash.

Halloween hazards

By MERRIE DHUSE

That bewitching night of goblins and jack-o-lanterns is just around the corner. And soon your children will be choosing costumes for that special night. Begin now to think of how you can make Halloween a safer holiday.

When choosing a costume be sure of four things: That your child can move safely; that she can see easily — and be seen, and that the costume has been flame proofed!

Long, baggy pants or skirts may add a certain flair to a hobo or gypsy but a child should be able to walk safely. Keep clothes short enough so that running or climbing stairs is not an impossibility.

Be sure your child can see. Enlarge mask holes or use make-up for a disguise. As Halloween excitement grows — so does the impulse to run across streets without checking for cars. Can your child be seen on a dark street? Give each child a flashlight, add reflective tape to costumes or be sure the costume has enough white to reflect at a passing driver.
